Dear Sir/Madam,

As you are already aware, in the global scenario of Conformity Assessment, Accreditation is playing important role in facilitating trade and commerce within and between all countries of the world. Accreditation bridges the gap in the testing capacity between different countries and help in bridging the trade barrier. It advances the national economy, benefit the health, safety and welfare of the public, and assist and protect consumers. The requirements of Accreditation of Laboratories in every country require all the laboratories undergoing accreditation to report the results that are comparable and are acceptable. This is to say- ‘tested once, accepted everywhere’.

Bureau of Indian Standards (BIS) is the National Standard Body of India which is also involved in capacity building in the nation by way of providing the training that helps the laboratories to understand the need of accreditation and fulfils the requirements. With this view, BIS’s National Institute of Training for Standardization (NITS, Noida) is organizing many programmes for laboratories. We have been conducting the said training programme through class room sessions. However, due to present condition of COVID-19 outbreak and government guidelines it will not be possible for us to conduct the conventional class room training. Besides the instructions of Govt, of India on social distancing also need to be adhered to. Therefore, it has been considered prudent to conduct 2-day Training programme on “Measurement Uncertainty” ONLINE during 24-25 June 2021.

Bureau of Indian Standards (BIS) has set up National Institute of Training for Standardization (NITS) at Noida to meet training needs of the Industry and the Government.

After attending the training program, the participant will be able to:

1. Know the factors responsible for measurement uncertainties (MU)
2. Identify these factors for your testing/ calibration.
3. Carry out the statistical calculations for evaluation of the MU

The program has been designed as a combination of Interactive lectures and Exercises for better understanding. The lectures are given by expert faculties, who have a large experience in planning, conducting and evaluation MU. Certificates of participation would also be provided.

Nomination form may be downloaded from our website at: www.bis.gov.in

You are requested to nominate your Laboratory Personnel/Internal Auditors for the above programme. The Training Programme is designed for 20-25 participants; therefore seats would be available for those registering with payment in chronological order.

Limited seats are available and shall be offered on first come first served basis.
